

Just in time for Valentine's Day, Richstone Collection offers its luxury private residences for select private rentals and bespoke romantic experiences. Couples and groups can choose from Templeton House in London, La Bergerie in the south of France, and Villa Charlotte in Mauritius.

Templeton House is a recently restored and redesigned historic mansion in southwest London, a short walk from Richmond Park. Set on three acres, the property features eight bedrooms, a spa, pool, movie theater and tennis court. La Bergerie is set on the Terre Blanche Resort near Fayence in France. The villa is surrounded by woodland, gardens and a golf course. Guests can stay in the main house or adjacent guest house and enjoy private use of a swimming pool, living and dining spaces. Villa Charlotte on the island of Mauritius is the newest addition to the Richstone Collection. The property sleeps up to 12 guests and offers private amenities including a gym, game room, fire pit and swimming pool.

Richstone Collection: Villa Charlotte

Upon arrival, guests are greeted with rose petals and personal bouquets. Customized services are available to enhance your romantic experience. For couples looking to relax, opt for a spa treatment at the in-house spa, or book a private couple's yoga session. Enjoy a picnic lunch, complete with Champagne in the private gardens at each property. Other culinary options include a private, on-site wine tasting or mixology class and a gourmet three-course dinner, accompanied by a pianist or other musician of your choice. Guests also have the option to work with Richstone Collection's team on other tailored experiences for the ultimate romantic getaway.

Pricing varies by property and experience. For more information, visit the website.
