By James Shillinglaw, Jan 25, 2021

Here are some luxury accommodations that we just couldn't resist noting, even though they are in currently off-limits Europe and elsewhere in the world. With a reputation for offering ultra-luxury private family residences for select private rentals, Richstone Collection is entering 2021 by offering a new selection of safe, intimate and exclusive romantic experiences for couples and groups.

Perfect for luxury couples, Richstone's three villa and manor properties—Templeton House in London, La Bergerie in the South of France and Villa Charlotte in Mauritius—offer private havens with enhanced health and safety protocols. For couples, and groups of couples, who might be seeking a stay on and around Valentine's Day this February, Richstone Collection is offering a selection of very special customized services to add on to their experience. Upon arrival, guests will be greeted with romantic décor in the form of rose petals and personal bouquets of roses to set the mood.

Couples also can choose from a selection of a la carte intimate activities aligned to their preferences. For rest and relaxation, they can enjoy a spa treatment, such as a couple's massage and facial, at the in-house spas. Or they can take a private couples yoga class. Guests can enjoy a promenade with a luxury hamper of food and champagne for a picnic style lunch in private gardens and areas of each property. For additional culinary experiences, Richstone can arrange a private in residence wine tasting or mixology master class. A three-course gourmet dinner prepared by a professional chef can also be organized, accompanied by a serenade from a pianist or musician of choice.

Offering year-round romance, these services can be created and added to any stay in a Richstone property. Experts at Richstone will work with guests and their travel advisors to create bespoke services tailored to each individual's preferences to create the ultimate romantic occasion.
